Members of Choctaw Club
Entertain Brilliantly at Dance and Dinner.

The annual Thanksgiving ball at the Choctaw Club rooms Wednesday evening for the members and friends, was one of the largest and most brilliant affairs of Columbus' social season.

Elaborate autumn decorations, including trees and shrubs of ever, were placed in artistic arrangements about the room, while gorgeous chrysanthemums and other flowers helped to brighten the more numerous hues of the Thanksgiving motif, while bright lights and good music made an ideal setting for the guests.

The dance was led by Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Hardy, beginning at 10 o'clock. At eleven o'clock a sumptuous dinner was served at the Ball Cafe, and the menu was especially delicious and tempting.

On returning to the club rooms dancing was resumed.

At 12:30 the members of the Twentieth Century Club, by invitation, joined the Choctaws, and together they danced until the "small hours" of the night.

Gorgeous and beautiful were the gowns worn by the women, while the men were handsome in the regulation evening suit. Many out-of-town guests were present, and the affair, elegant in detail, was thoroughly enjoyed and will be a pretty memory for future days.

The music was furnished by the Princess theatre eight-piece orchestra, which was led by Prof. A. N. Jacob.

The details of the banquet were attended to by the president, Mr. Carroll Hackleman, and he deserves much credit for the beautiful and hospitable way every detail was presented.

Those present were:

Miss Ida Frances Oliver, Mr. Virgil Epps; Miss Marie Cady, Mr. E. L. Williamson; Miss Lucy Banks, Mr. Tom Evans; Miss Frances Dashiell, Mr. Milton Rainey; Miss Nell Carter, Mr. Robert Hardy; Miss Jackson, Dr. J. W. Beautiful Card Party is Given by Members of Twentieth Century Club.

The Twentieth Century Club was a beautiful and brilliant scene on Wednesday evening, when the members entertained for their husbands and friends.

The handsome apartments were ablaze with pretty lights, while baskets filled with roses, and cases with chrysanthemums were used with consummate taste here and there to produce a brilliant effect.

The reception was held at 8 o'clock. Those who assisted in entertaining were: Mesdames 8th Street, Jr. Reuben Banks, T. J. Locke, Jr., Charles Hays, Kittle Kennedy, Louis Walker, Waights Otley, J. T. Searcy, James Carr, W. F. Patty, P. W. Maer, Frank Owen, J. P. Woodward, Charles Frierson, Howard King, W. R. McKinley, A. L. Jones, I. L. Gaston, Wm. Simpson, Lee Caine, Wm. Frazer; Misses Anna Banks, Tracy and Mary Woody Betts.

Six hand euchre was played at fourteen tables. Those receiving prizes were: Mrs. W. F. Patty, lone hand; Miss Cornelia Hudson, highest score; those receiving gentlemen's prizes were: Mr. A. L. Jones and Mr. Charles Hays. Misses Catherine Maer, Marie Street and Martha Searcy kept score.

At eleven o'clock an elegant supper was served down stairs. The long tables were resplendent with silver and cut glass, while huge baskets of fruits and flowers completed a very beautiful effect. Delightful music by a string band was enjoyed through out the evening.

Miss Knox Entertains.

Miss Knox entertained the mothers of her pupils with a Thanksgiving party Wednesday morning that was delightful informal, at the same time very interesting and enjoyable.

Autumn leaves, shocks of corn and hay were used in the kindergarten room. After games and songs delicious refreshments were served.

Miss Knox understands child life and knows how to give individual help thus encouraging each child to put forth its very best efforts.

The Bernard Romans Chapter, D. A. R., will meet with Miss Alice Halbert Wednesday, December 1st, at 3:00 o'clock.

Social Season at White House
Will Begin Upon Return of Wilson From Honeymoon.

The following special recently sent from Washington, will be read with interest:

"President Wilson and his bride will open the winter social season at the white house January 1th, almost immediately after they have returned from their honeymoon. It has just been announced that festivities will begin with a Pan-American reception, a new feature. Conspicuous for its absence will be one of the most picturesque events of the season's program, the diplomatic reception, rendered inadvisable by the European war. There will be no New Year's reception because at that time the president plans to be away from Washington on his bridal trip.

"The cabinet dinner, judicial reception, supreme court dinner, congressional reception, the speaker's dinner and the army and navy reception will be held as in the past, although the last event will be held on March 3rd, somewhat later than usual.

"The receiving line at the receptions will possess particular interest. At the president's left will stand Mrs. Edith Bolling Wilson, and there will be other new faces. Mrs. Lansing, wife of the secretary of state, will take the place of Mrs. Bryan. For the first time Mrs. Gregory, wife of the attorney-general will be seen. Last winter, after Gregory was appointed, the white house was closed to social events.

"Added to the regular state receptions and dinners will be charming musicals for the ladies, with Mrs. Wilson as hostess.

"The calendar of receptions and dinners at the white house for the season of 1916, as recently announced, follows:

"Pan-American reception, January 7; cabinet dinner, January 11; first diplomatic dinner, January 21; second diplomatic dinner, January 25; judicial reception, February 4; supreme court dinner, February 8; congressional reception, February 18; speaker's dinner, February 22; army and navy reception, March 3."

Miss Hopkins Entertains

For Miss Stockard.

One of the beautiful social functions of the week was a card party given by Miss Georgia Hopkins in compliment to Miss Margaret Stockard, of Los Angeles, Cal., who is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Richards.

Garden flowers and pretty greenery were all about the pretty reception rooms, where the card tables were placed. After the games a sweet course was served.

The congenial guest list included: Misses Vernon Patty, Corinne Richards, Mary W. Betts, Annie Lee Senter, Lucille Webb, Sadie May Rosenzweig, Frances Dashiell, Besie Newsome, Miriam Sykes, Rosalee Rhett, Anna Terrell Hamilton, Mattie Lou Stephenson, Annie Brewer, Mesdames Lawrence Frank, James Carr, Herman Owen, J. W. Slaughter, Edward Humphries, W. W. Westmoreland and Bailey Hardy.

Miss Burke Entertains

Missionary Society.

Miss Irene Burke entertained the Woman's Missionary Society, of the First Methodist church, in their monthly social meeting, November 23.

Mrs. S. M. Nash read Ps. 96 and Mrs. Barksdale led the prayer.

Mrs. W. F. Leigh, Mrs. Burke, Mrs. James Lipscomb, Miss Lily Gregory and Mrs. Battle Bell each gave a short reading with the keynote, gladness and Thanksgiving.

Instrumental and vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. Bew, Mrs. Eugene Beard, Miss Thankful Howell and Miss Rebecca Pegues.

The social half-hour over "a cup of tea," closed a pleasant afternoon.

Mrs. Rowena Cocke and daughter, Miss Rowena, expect to leave this week for their home in Asheville, N. C., after a delightful visit to relatives and friends.

Miss Adelle Leigh, who is teaching in Meridian, spent the past several days here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Leigh.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bell, of Chicago, who are now visiting relatives in Fayette, are expected soon to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Whitfield.

Miss Etta Atwell spent Thanksgiving at Houka, visiting her brother there.

Mrs. Cary, of Richmond, Va., is visiting friends in Columbus.

Notice W. C. T. U.

At the national meeting of the W. C. T. U. Convention in Seattle, campaign plans were adopted, and Dec. 2nd was designated as a day of prayer for National Constitutional Prohibition.

Accordingly every local W. C. T. U. in the United States is called upon to assemble its members for prayer Thursday, Dec. 2.

In answer to the above call the W. C. T. U. of Columbus invites the ladies of Columbus and vicinity, and all societies, to meet with them in special prayer service to be held in the Baraca room of the First Methodist church Thursday, Dec. 2, at 3 o'clock.

All ministers asked to announce the above from their pulpits 2t.

Mrs. Ayres Entertains
For Mrs. Cocke.

One of the noteworthy events that marked a busy week of gaiety was an afternoon tea on yesterday, when Mrs. Claude Ayres was hostess, thus complimenting Mrs. Rowena Cocke, of Asheville, N. C., her life-long friend.

The Twentieth Century Club rooms were chosen for this lovely affair. Gorgeous and fragrant blossoms decorated the pretty suite. Baskets filled with carnations were placed amid a wealth of greenery, making a pretty place for the receiving party and the guests who called.

Receiving with Mrs. Ayres and Mrs. Cocke were Mrs. Robert Perkins, Mrs. Alice Young, Mrs. J. T. Searcy and Mrs. J. P. Woodward.

Mrs. Fenton Robertson poured tea and the pretty tea girls were Misses Rowena Cocke, Lucille Webb and Margaret Stockard.

A souvenir, a hand-painted booklet in which the guests registered, was given Mrs. Cocke.

This affair was elegant in detail, as are all functions given by the charming hostess, and many warm friends of the honoree had the opportunity of meeting her and enjoying her friendship again before her leave-taking next week.

Miss Poindexter Compliments
Mrs. Richards.

Miss Poindexter gave a brilliant reception yesterday afternoon at her studios in compliment to Mrs. Mrs. John D. Richards, of New York.

Though often opened for handsome entertainments, the elegant suite never appeared more beautiful than yesterday afternoon. Palms and Richmond roses in abundance, with their fragrance and beauty, filled the rooms, making a veritable bower of loveliness for the handsomely gowned women who received.

Those who stood with Miss Poindexter besides the charming honoree, were Mrs. Orman Kimbrough, of Greenwood, and Mrs. R. E. Johnston.

Punch was served in the hall where gorgeous yellow chrysanthemums in their stately beauty vied with the other flowers in loveliness.

Assisting in entertaining were: Mesdames T. B. Franklin, J. P. Woodward, S. D. Harris, T. J. Locke, Jr., Wm. Watson, W. E. Richards, J. T. Searcy, Kittle Kennedy, Lee Caine; Misses Mamie Sue Sherrod, Anna Banks, Cornelia Hudson.

Tea, sandwiches and coffee were served.

Remedy in the Housewife's Hands.

Since Dr. Goldberger has demonstrated the curative value of diet in the treatment of pellagra, the following weekly menu will be of interest to every thoughtful woman who plans the meals for her family. If this diet cured the seventy-two cases of pellagra it must be a well-balanced diet for housewives to consider. This list will furnish food for thought as well as suggestions for the table.
